A COLLECT FOR CLUB WOMEN

"Dear Lord: In this complex world, grant that we may find the simple way of life.

Let us be done with pretention and seek ever to meet on the common ground of truth.

May we not be indifferent to opportunity to serve our fellow-man for we realize indeed that the greatest service to ourselves is to our fellow-man. Let not self but self-lessness be uppermost in our service.

Teach us, O Lord, to know kindness, to be gentle, tol-rant, and charitable.

Deliver us from the bondage of prejudice and hate, and help us to thrust bitterness from us.

Let us know the joy of companionship based on unity of purpose and unity of action.

And, O Lord God, may we ever think more deeply, feel more deeply, live more deeply, and draw nearer unto thee day by day. "

Afton Peterson
Richfield, Utah 1948

JUNIOR PLEDGE

I pledge my loyalty to the Junior Clubwomen,
By doing better than ever before
What work I have to do.
By being prompt, honest, courteous,
By living each day, trying to accomplish something,
Not merely to exist.

Letters to urge Warren to speed Bayshore plans

An intensive letter-writing campaign to urge Gov. Earl Warren to place highway and freeway financing on the agenda of the special legislative session this March was launched last night, following a special meeting at the San Mateo City Hall.

Central figure at the meeting was Assemblyman Richard Dolwig of San Carlos, who outlined features of his new highway financing bill which he will introduce in March if highway problems are placed on the legislature's agenda. The bill, he said, would permit completion of Bayshore Freeway without delay.

Dolwig's plans were applauded by Sen. Harry Parkman of Woodside and some 75 of the county's outstanding civic leaders who attended the one-hour meeting. The gathering included the board of supervisors, city councilmen and representatives of chambers of commerce, veterans' organizations, service clubs, labor and other groups.

The meeting was highlighted by appointment of a 21-man committee which will take the lead in organizing the letter-writing campaign. Supervisor Alvin Hatch of Half Moon Bay was chosen chairman of the committee, which will contact officials of other counties, chambers of commerce, city councils and other organizations to urge Governor Warren to include highway financing on the agenda of the special session. The campaign, it is hoped, will be conducted on a statewide basis.

Dolwig declared today that his new bill is a "permissive" bill. Each county can decide for itself whether it wants to take advantage of its provisions.

San Mateo County, for example, is now eligible to receive $1,171,000 per year in gas tax money under terms of the Burns-Collier bill as well as $800,000 a year in "free" money which is budgeted for highway use in the county.

The bill provides that supervisors in each county may pass a resolution describing its critical highway need. After the state highway department conducts a survey of the supervisors' recommendations the board will have the privilege of issuing bonds, to be paid off by the gas tax money.

In the case of Bayshore Freeway, Dolwig said, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties each could issue $10 million bonds, redeemable over a 10-year period. The "free" money available to both counties could pay any additional cost.

MEETING CALLED ON BAYSHORE

Ways and means to complete Bayshore Freeway as soon as possible will be discussed tomorrow at 8 p.m. at a special meeting in the city hall in San Mateo.

Assemblyman Richard J. Dolwig (R-South San Francisco) called the meeting to outline a program to present to the special session of the legislature in March.

"In order to be assured of early action it will be necessary to have the governor include this matter" on the special call agenda, Dolwig said. He said the state senate finance committee killed a bill at the last session that would have provided for a highway bonding act.

Dolwig said the bill would not increase any tax for highway purposes. The only change from the present set-up would be a payment of 1¾ per cent interest on highway bonds.

This plan and others will be discussed at the San Mateo meeting.

FREEWAY JOB AT SAN MATEO TO BEGIN SOON

Bayshore Freeway will creep another 2.6 miles south toward the Santa Clara County line beginning in April.

Work is expected to start about April 1 on a $2 million six-lane, divided, limited-access freeway through San Mateo. Bids will be advertised Feb. 29 and opened March 26, the state department of public works announced today.

The new freeway link will extend from the end of the present freeway at Peninsular Ave. in Burlingame to 16th Ave. on the southern edge of San Mateo.

The state also announced today that it is moving on a second front to increase traffic safety on the thoroughfare which earned the name last summer of "Bloody Bayshore" for its fatal accidents.

J. C. Young, state traffic engineer, was to arrive in San Francisco today to begin a study of intersections which the state may close to left turns. George T. McCoy, state highway engineer, indicated, today, however, that there probably will not be a blanket ban on left turns.

"Promiscuous signing of the freeway prohibiting lefthand turns at intersections at this time without a thorough study might create more hazardous conditions than now exist," he said.

be spent either for one of these freeway projects according to L. A. Weymouth, division engineer.

1. Augusta to Third St. in San Francisco.
2. Over-the-water link near Brisbane and Visitacion Valley.
3. Extension south from 16th Ave. in San Mateo.

Meanwhile, construction of the experimental right-turn, left-turn system on Bayshore Highway is under way at the South Gate to Moffett Field. The system is designed to eliminate rear-end accidents caused when drivers stop in the fast lane to turn left.

The new freeway link will cut out 20 intersections in San Mateo where left turns are now allowed. The six-lane freeway will be bordered on both sides by service roads which will feed traffic down side streets.

Access to the service roads will be by right turns only and by way of a separation crossing at Third Ave. The project is one of several included in the $5.5 million the state budgeted for Bayshore improvement during 1952-53.

The additional $3.5 million will

Many enter talent exhibit

CRAFTSMAN—Stanley Woolley trims the paint on the after crow's nest of a high-pooped schooner model he designed himself. The sailing ship is one of seven intricate replicas he will enter in Palo Alto's second annual Youth Talent Exhibit March 21-23. The 15-year-old Palo Alto High School sophomore, who lives at 249 Matadero Ave., has been building ship models for three years. Deadline for entries in the show is midnight Monday.

Last-minute rush of youths great; deadline Monday

A last-minute rush has almost cleaned out supplies of Youth Talent Exihibit entry blanks at local schools, it was reported today. Deadline for mailing the applications is midnight Monday.

Mrs. George D. Coolidge of the exhibit committee said droves of 12- to 18-year-olds checked out the forms as the school week drew to a close. Entry blanks are still available at the Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce office, 110 The Circle.

According to exhibit rules, the applications must be mailed to Youth Talent Exhibit, P.O. Box 905, Palo Alto, and postmarked before March 3. Dates of the 1952 show, to be held in the Palo Alto High School girls' gymnasium, are March 21-23.

Many offers to help with arrangements have been received, Mrs. Coolidge said. "The committee is delighted with the enthusiasm being shown," she added.

A search is on for mannequins on which to display clothing made by teen-age girls who have entered the needlework competition, according to Mrs. Coolidge.

Co-chairman of the exhibit are David Wood and Tom Husband of the sponsoring Palo Alto 20-30 Club.

PREPARING FOR TALENT EXHIBIT — Tom Poulter Jr. (left) and Charles Smith are shown readying their radio entries for the Youth Talent Exhibit, which will be held March 21, 22, and 23 in the girls' gymnasium at Palo Alto High School. Entry blanks, obtainable at the Chamber of Commerce or the Times, should be mailed to Box 905, Palo Alto, not later than Monday midnight. Young people of the community are invited to enter their hobbies, art and craft work in the show, which was started last year by Janie Coolidge. Tom has been interested in radio for a year and a half, is president of the Palo Alto Radio Club at Palo Alto High School, belongs to the Palo Alto Amateur Radio Association, and is an Explorer Scout. Charles is building a transmitter. He only recently became interested in radio, belongs to the Town Radio Club, Radio Club at Palo Alto High School.

One more week for Youth Talent entries

Youngsters planning to enter the 1952 Youth Talent Exhibit have just one week left in which to get their applications in the mail.

Entries must be postmarked before midnight on Monday, March 3, or they will not be accepted. Application blanks, available at schools, the Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce office, and the Times, are to be sent to P.O. Box 905, Palo Alto.

The popular exhibit, originated here last year, will be open to the public, in the Palo Alto High School girls' gymnasium on March 21, 22, and 23, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

This year's committee is headed by Tom Husband and David Wood of the sponsoring Palo Alto 20-30 Club. John Santana Jr. is secretary-treasurer and Knute Erickson is applications chairman. Others on the commitee are Dr. Andrew Stevens, Jordan Junior High School principal; Mrs. Naomi Gill, Palo Alto High School teacher; and Mrs. George Coolidge.

Wood said today that applications are already coming in, but urged Palo Alto area youngsters from 12 to 18 to submit theirs immediately.

He added that entrants whose applications are approved by the talent staff will receive a letter notifying them of details of the show.

"Live" exhibits — something the public can watch the entrant doing—will be particularly welcome, Wood said.

Because prices have gone up and more cups and ribbons are needed, he added, the committee is asking clubs that contributed last year to double the amount so that everyone who enters will have a fair chance to win a cup.

Organizations and individuals wishing to give financial aid may send their contributions to the Youth Talent Exhibit, P.O. Box 905, Palo Alto.

Exhibitors are to deliver their entries to the gymnasium March 14, 15, or 16.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1952

HONOREE—Mrs. Edward Hyde, president of the Junior Woman's Club, was honored at a surprise handkerchief party on her birthday at the home of Mrs. Elliott Katzen. About 30 members of the club were present for the affair, which was held Thursday evening.

Youth Talent show exhibits being accepted

Articles for the Youth Talent Exhibit, scheduled to open to the public March 21, 22, and 23, are being accepted today at the Girl's Gymnasium in Palo Alto High School from 4 to 8 p.m., and tomorrow and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

"Entries are still coming in," commented Knut Erickson, application chairman. "It's wonderful to see the variety of entries—everything from metalwork to sewing. One boy even wants to enter a fly collection."

Erickson added, "This exhibit should prove to be very interesting, and I certainly hope all Palo Altans take advantage of it."

Exhibit organizers have ordered 30 gold cups for prizes, and announced that every exhibitor will receive a certificate. Blue ribbons have also been ordered for prizes.

Display work and exhibit arranging is being handled by the Palo Alto Art Club with the assistance of LeRoy Jordan, display manager for Palo Alto Hardware Store.

John Santana, treasurer of the Youth Talent Exhibit, stated today, "I hope all of the people who read about the recklessness of young people come to see this exhibit. It will prove to them that it is only a slight percentage of teen-agers who are reckless."

Organizations and clubs which have contributed to the exhibit include the Palo Alto Lions, Quota Club, Palo Alto Women's Club, Kiwanis, Palo Alto Art Club, American Legion Post No. 375, Army and Navy Women's Club, Elks, and Soroptimists.

Youth Talent Exhibit auction at P.A. High School nets $24

The auction held at Palo Alto High School netted $24 for the Youth Talent Exhibit which will be held March 21, 22 and 23 in the girls' gym, Janie Coolidge, a member of the student committee, announced today.

The auction was to be continued today at noon. Items solicited from Palo Alto merchants by the high school legislative council are being sold. John Williams, a senior, is president of the council.

The deadline has passed for bringing exhibits to the gym, Miss Coolidge said. The Junior Women's Club received them and set them up.

Miss Coolidge and Sharlene Willhide are co-chairmen of the student committee that is arranging the exhibit. Other members are Kay Braig, Johnny Valahos, and Gary Williams.

David Wood and Tom Husband of the 20-30 Club are helping in organization. Knur Erickson is application chairman, it was announced.

P. A. area leaders to take part in SJ traffic meet

Many local civic and education leaders will take part in the public all-day traffic action conference at the San Jose Civic Auditorium Saturday.

The public conference is sponsored by the Santa Clara County Chapter of the National Safety Council, and will open for registration at 8:30 a.m.

Roy H. Rundle, president of the Santa Clara County Safety Council, states that the conference is presented free of charge to the public as a public service, and is dedicated to the principle "that human life is one of our nation's most precious assets."

During the morning session William S. Pfeifle, chairman of Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors, will explain conference objectives. David M. Baldwin, division director of traffic and transportation of the national council, will also speak.

Eight panel discussions will meet from 1 to 4 p.m., including the topics of engineering, enforcement, education, legislation, courts and prosecutors, public information and support, school safety, and youth.

Among leaders and participants on the panels will be Prof. C. S. Oglesby of the Stanford School of Engineering; Howard Zink, chief of the Palo Alto Police Department; Arthur Excell, chief of the Mountain View Police Department; Albert K. Orschel, professor of the Stanford School of Law; Mrs. Henry Sirgo, public welfare chairman of the Palo Alto PTA Council; Elinor Cogswell, editor of the Palo Alto Times, and Eldon Jackson, director of curriculum and instruction in the Palo Alto Unified School District.

Gary Williams and George Chiu will represent Palo Alto High School on the youth panel, and Duward Shriver and John Blazin will represent Mountain View Union High School.

The general session will reconvene at 4 p.m. to hear five-minute summary, reports from the panels, and the conference will close at 5 p.m.

Among sponsors of the County Traffic Committee of the county safety council are Albert K. Orschel and Ben Self, of Palo Alto; Arthur Excell of Mountain View; E. H. Cureton of Sunnyvale, and Oscar Holzhauer of Los Altos.

Judge R. E. Doyle gives talk

The choral group of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Guy Wathern.

The arts section will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Simon Sommer, 2730 Greer Rd. Members will work on their oil paintings and sketches.

Warren Bohn, music director of the Ravenswood School District, also is the director of the junior women's choral group.

Participating members of this section include Mrs. F. P. Hunchar, Mrs. William L. Smith, Mrs. Brown Taylor. Mrs. Ray Schuhmann, Mrs. Don Alvord, Mrs. Jack Merrill, Mrs. Jack Tuomy, Mrs. Guy Wathen, and Miss Virginia Marshall.

At the junior women's business meeting Thursday evening Judge Richard E. Doyle Jr. spoke on "What Makes a Juvenile Delinquent?"

"A delinquent, said the judge, "is a child that has suffered a breakdown under emotional strain and one who lacks the ability to have normal reactions to external social and economic forces."

He gave the following reasons why a child becomes a delinquent:

1. The non-interest of parents in their children; 2. Broken homes due to divorce or death; 3. Alcoholism; 4. Parents engaged in illicit affairs; 5. Parents who disregard legal and community obligations; 6. unfair punishment of children.

"Have fun with your kids and boast not about what you do for them, but what you do with them," said the speaker.

STANLEY R. EVANS

New Palo Alto Safety Council is headed by Stanley R. Evans

Stanley R. Evans, Palo Alto attorney, was elected president of the newly-formed Palo Alto Safety Council at the final organizational meeting last night at Community Center.

Other officers elected included: Donald L. Brown, 841 Garland Drive, vice president and safety chairman; Mrs. Stanley Bishop, 345 Manzanita Drive, secretary and member of the safety committee; Theodore R. Damask, 1345 Bryant St., treasurer and chairman of the finance committee.

The temporary steering committee, headed by Ben Self, was dissolved, and the president made the following appointments: Rodman Bingham, chairman, executive committee; James Bell, chairman, traffic and commercial vehicles; Bob Schmidt, subchairman of the traffic committee; Mrs. Robert Van Valkenburg, school and child committee; Mrs. E. D. Katzen, home and child committee; Mrs. Van Valkenburg, executive secretary. Self will be the representative to the County Safety Council.

Self reported on activities of the Santa Clara County Safety Council and on the Western Safety Conference in Long Beach, where he represented the Palo Alto organization.

Dr. Esther Clark spoke to the group, and suggested that emphasis be placed on child accident prevention, as 33 per cent of the deaths among children under 14 years of age are caused by accidents, most of them preventable.

Evans is a partner in the Palo Alto law firm of Moerdyke, Anderson, and Evans. Formerly a resident of Evanston, Ill., he is a graduate of Northwestern University and Harvard Law School. He served with the Marine Corps in the Pacific area in World War 2, and holds a Marine Reserve commission as captain. He is a member of the Palo Alto 20-30 Club, and the mayor's golf course committee. He came here four years ago, and lives at 1676 Channing Ave. with his wife, Betty Stober Evans, and 11-month-old daughter, Elizabeth Anne.

The new president believes that Palo Alto is an ideal community but that it hasn't quite kept up with other communities its size in safety, through the lack of continuous, community-wide effort of a group concerned only with safety. He is convinced the city can and will solve its safety problems once residents become aware of those problems, and join in a coordinated effort to solve them.

The organization aims, Evans stated, to coordinate the safety efforts of organizations and individuals in the community to prevent duplication of effort and to gain city-wide support of programs adopted. He says council hopes to represent every segment of the community, and maintain a constant program of safety education.

Junior clubs of the California Federation of Women's Clubs wound up their 24th annual convention at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley last week end in a flurry of awards.

Southern California clubs made a virtual across-the-board sweep of top prizes, given for various community projects. Only clubs in the Bay Area to place were the Palo Alto and Oakland Junior Women's Clubs.

In the Build a Better Community contest, sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation, top award went to members of the Lancaster Junior Women's Club, who donated some 7000 hours and $2000 in projects covering nearly every phase of community life. Lancaster took the sweepstakes award of $200, as well as the first place prize of $150 for medium-sized clubs.

Other first place award winners were: small clubs, Mission Beach, for a playground for pre-school age children: large clubs, Temple City, for an investigation of youth in crime.

Palo Alto placed third among medium sized clubs for a project to alleviate traffic problems on the Bayshore. Oakland took third among small clubs for its work with the Sunrise School of Handicapped Children. Both clubs received $75 awards.

In awards given annually by the federation, the same two clubs were the only Bay Area groups to place. Each was the winner within its district of the Josephine Seaman award of merit, given for a permanent contribution to the community. Palo Alto also took first place among medium sized clubs for federation projects in literature and art. The American Yugoslav Junior Women's Club of this city received a special recognition award in international relations.

A total of 62 clubs in the State participated in the Build a Better Community contest.

The convention concluded with an election of officers and the adoption of resolutions. Mrs. Robert Serr of the San Francisco district was elected president for 1952-53. Her cabinet includes Mrs. Vernon Freitas, Northern district, first vice president; Mrs. Ceilia Dunford, Los Angeles district, second vice president; Mrs. Zel Taylor, Southern district, recording secretary; Mrs. Loren Nutter, Alameda district, treasurer; Sally Everrett, San Joaquin district, auditor.

Mrs. Arnold honored at club meeting

5/24/52

Mrs. Clement Arnold, senior advisor for the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club, was elected "Advisor of the Year," for the entire state at the junior club's convention last evening. The conclave is being held at Hotel Claremont, Berkeley.

Mrs. Arnold is the first recipient of such an honor.

In the national award section an award of honor is given by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in the "Build Freedom with Youth," contest and this year the Palo Alto Juniors placed sixth in the nation. They were competing with both senior and junior clubs.

Mrs. James Crowley was chairman of the local project.

Mrs. Edward J. Hyde, president of the juniors, accepted the following state awards:

Josephine Seaman Award, given for "Lasting Achievement in Community Service. Literature Award, of which Mrs. Ralph Hallett was chairman; Penny Arts Award, in which the group took first honors, Mrs. Simon Sommers, chairman; and philanthrophy, second place, Mrs. Don Bolander chairman.

The local juniors, also, received third place honors and a check for $75 awarded by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for the "Build a Better Community" contest. Mrs. Elliott Katzen was chairman of this event.

The three-day convention closed today.

PA "Juniors" Go Out Tonight

This evening at 8 p. m. members of the Palo Alto Junior women's club will gather at the Marie Antoinette hotel in Menlo Park for their annual Christmas dinner, this year honoring their advisor, Mrs. Clement Arnold.

Before the party, guests are invited to the no-host cocktail soiree, from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m., in the Menlo Park home of Mrs. Burt C. Kendall.

The evening's honored guest, Mrs. Arnold, will be presented with a television set from the club, in appreciation of her 12 years' service for the junior women.

A member of the senior PA Women's cuub for 15 years, Mrs. Arnold has held all offices in the organization. In 1941 she attended a senior staff convention, and there learned about the junior women. Upon her return, she organized 12 girls into the first Palo Alto Junior Women's club.

P.A. JUNIOR WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. Clement H. Arnold honored

Mrs. Clement H. Arnold, who founded the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club 12 years ago, was honored last night at a special Christmas meeting and party at the Marie Antoinette Hotel by club members.

The honoree has been district adviser for the past four years and earlier this year was named state adviser.

Mrs. Arnold, widow of the late Dr. Arnold, resides at 695 N. California Ave. with her mother, Mrs. Annie M. Newton, who was among last evening's guests.

Mrs. Arnold, who has been a resident of Palo Alto for 20 years, is on the nursing staff at the Stanford Convalescent Home.

In 1941 she was elected president of the Woman's Club of Palo Alto and it was that same year she organized the junior group. Before this, she was affiliated with the senior group for 15 years.

It was also through her untiring efforts junior clubs were organized in Salinas, Los Altos, and two in Lake County.

Preceding last night's dinner party, cocktails were served at the Menlo Park home of Mrs. Burt C. Kendall, vice president of the junior women.

At the dinner, which was attended by a number of local and state officers, Mrs. Arnold was presented with a television set on behalf of the group.

Mrs. J. H. Gray Jr. officiated at the meeting. Guests included Mrs. Robert Serr, state president; Mrs. Nellie Crom, state junior president; Mrs. Albert Roney, district president; Mrs. Albert D. Bonell, president of the Woman's Club of Palo Alto; Mrs. Robert Bennett, East Palo Alto junior adviser; Mrs. John Richter, East Palo Alto junior vice president, and Mrs. Elliott Katzen, state civil defense chairman for the juniors.

A COLLECT FOR CLUBWOMAN

Dear Lord, in this complex world grant that we may find the simple way of life.
Let us be done with pretention and seek ever to meet on the common grounds of truth.
May we not be indifferent of opportunities to serve our fellowmen, for we realize indeed that the greatest service to ourselves is to our fellowmen.
Let not self but selflessness be uppermost in our service.
Teach us, Oh Lord, to know kindness, to be gentle, tolerant and charitable.
Deliver us from the bondage of prejudice and hate and help us to thrust bitterness from us.
Let us know the joy of companionship based on unity of purpose and unity of action.
And, Oh Lord, may we ever think more deeply, feel more deeply, live more deeply and draw nearer unto thee day by day.

JUNIOR PLEDGE

I pledge my loyalty to the Junior Club Women by doing better than ever before what work I have to do: by being prompt, honest, courteous: by living each day trying to accomplish something, not merely to exist.

JUNIOR WOMEN PLAN PROGRAM

Musical-tea for seniors

The Junior Women's Club of Palo Alto will entertain the local senior woman's group tomorrow with a musical program and tea at the clubhouse at 2 p.m.

Entertainers will include Maria Risola, dramatic soprano from San Francisco who is a member of the San Carlo Opera Company.

Miss Risola, radio and concert star, was formerly soloist with the San Franisco Symphony Orchestra.

Her selections will include Guiseppe Verde's aria, "Pace, Pace Mio Dio, "Spirit Flower," and "Morning."

Mrs. Frank Woods of San Francisco will be her accompanist.

Also on the program will be Mrs. F. P. Hunchar, soloist, who will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Norwood Burch.

Helen Wilson, violinist, accompanied by Barney Childs; and Diana Phillips, pianist. Mrs. Robert Banus will also do a dance number.

Mrs. Raymond Schumann, tea chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Elwin Osselisi. Program chairmen are Mrs. Clement Arnold, Mrs. Roberts Jones, and Mrs. Burt C. Kendall.

Mrs. Howard Phillips and Mrs. Michael Aboud are handling decorations.

Tea will be served after the program and the Palo Alto Art Club will show an exhibit. Mrs. John Molenda is chairman of this event.

The first of a series of benefit bridge luncheons, sponsored by the senior group, was held Friday at the home of Mrs. Albert D. Bonell.

Funds raised from these benefits will help defray the expenses for the purchase of new window drapes and a fire screen for the clubhouse dining room.

Invited guests are to be drawn from the club membership and the same members will be privileged to participate throughout the series.

A member may give a party of her own for the benefit and may invite non-members as well as the club members.

Details of the next luncheon will be given as soon as plans have been formulated.

Paly Hi: Boosters set benefit basketball tilt

By GLENDA UNGER
PALO ALTO HIGH SCHOOL

Boosters' Club is sponsoring a benefit basketball game with Menlo-Atherton Jan. 23 in Paly's boys' gym. The money will go to the depleted boys' athletic fund.

The Boosters are printing 1500 tickets, which wil' be sold at a dollar each to the general public. High school students will be admitted with student body cards.

The sale of these tickets will be handled by the Boosters, civic organizations downtown, and various service clubs at the senior high school. Competition will be held among the service clubs and the club selling the most tickets will win a prize.

The Boosters, who have in the past worked on such projects as last year's benefit football game with Burlingame to raise money for new band uniforms and the Hod Ray Memorial Scholarship, are planning this benefit under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. R. Patterson.

Half-time entertainment will feature a comedy trampoline act and Maxine Meadows, who will perform a number of baton tricks.

Following the game a dance, sponsored by Paly's social committee, will be held in the girls' gym for Paly and Menlo-Atherton students.

Admission to the dance is 15 cents per person. A band and special entertainment will be provided. Refreshments consisting of cokes and cookies will be served.

Junior women's board to meet

The board of directors of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Elwain Osselin.

Business will include discussions on the club's "build a better community" project, its forthcoming fashion show, and applications for prospective new members.

Two members of the club, Mrs. Clement Arnold, adviser, and Mrs. J. H. Gray Jr., president, will attend a dinner tomorrow evening in San Francisco, to be given in honor of Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren, general federation president. The San Francisco City and County Women's Club is sponsoring the affair.

MP Clubwoman Heads PA Group

Another Menlo Park woman has been honored with the presidency of an area organization; this time, Mrs. J. H. Gray Jr., who was recently named to head the Junior Women's club of Palo Alto.

Mrs. Gray and her husband have been residents of Menlo Park for five years. A member of the women's club for four years, Mrs. Gray has served as membership chairman and art chairman. During her term as head of the art section, she won, in behalf of her group, a painting by the state association and a special award from the district.

Among her other activities, Mrs. Gray is a charter member of the Camino Players and inspector of her fifth voting precinct. She is the mother of two and a half year-old Kathelin Jane and supervisor of Jupiter, a giant poodle, Duchess, a persian cat and Budgie, a talking bird.

The new club president will officially take her post in May when the organization holds its installation dinner. Also to be installed will be Mrs. William Robertson of Menlo Park, the corresponding secretary-elect.

Thrift Shop is club's new project; 'Black Magic' party to raise funds

"Black Magic" is the theme for the Saturday night party planned by the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club at Rickey's.

Proceeds of the group's first combination social and money-raising project will be used to finance the club's new project — the taking over of the Thrift Shop which is connected with the Servicemen's Center, 570 Santa Cruz Ave., Menlo Park.

The announcement was made at a special meeting of the Junior Women. Funds from the sale of donated articles at the shop are used to maintain the Center, where monthly more than 2000 service men are entertained.

Club members will staff the shop and keep it supplied with salable merchandise, and all proceeds will be turned over to the American Women's Voluntary Services, who will continue to staff and maintain the Center.

Mrs. R. C. Schuhmann, president of the Junior Women, has announced that the list of chairmen and committees will be announced at a later date. Also, a grand opening date for the shop under the new club's sponsorship, will be made.

To spur the drive for merchandise for the shop, each guest attending the "Black Magic" party will be asked to take an item suitable for filling the shelves on grand opening day.

For tomorrow's party, Mrs. Edward Hyde, decorations chairman, has plans for weird settings in greeting guests. On the evening's agenda will be games, dance contests, and fortune-telling by Madame Granville of the Allied Arts Guild.

Entertainment will be provided by the following Stanford students and members of Rams Head: Jim Steckert, Beverly Glasford, Steve Stevenson, Carolyn Cowan, Paul Burkhardt, Tex Thompson, Bill Scott, and Hugh Roberts.

Mrs. Vincent Klevesahl is in charge of the entertainment committee.

Assisting Mrs. Burt C. Kendall, general chairman, are Mrs. Elliott Katzen, Mrs. Harold Mohr, Mrs. Robert Martin, and Mrs. Harold Starr.

The cocktail hour will commence at 7:30 and dancing will get under way at 9 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 each and may be purchased from any club member or by calling Mrs. Kendall at DA 2-0712.

'BLACK MAGIC' are the keywords among members of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club these days as that's the theme for their combined social and fund-raising party, to be held Saturday at Rickey's. The club has announced taking over the Thrift Shop at the Servicemen's Center, Menlo Park. Mrs. Edward J. Hyde, decorations chairman, and Mrs. Harold Mohr are engaged in making "weird" cutouts for the social.

Palo Alto Jr. Women's Club:

Localite Takes Over Presidency

Mrs. Thomas C. Whitson of Menlo Park assumed leadership of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club last Thursday night, following the resignation of Mrs. Ann Kelman, Palo Alto, who had been president of the group for the past four and one-half months.

In her previous position as

vice president and dean of chairmen, Barbara attended the California Junior Federation's state convention in Los Angeles last May. As representative of the Palo Alto club she was presented with the awards won by that organization for their outstanding work in community affairs and their many civic-service projects.

Besides being the new club president, Mrs. Whitson is also Pacifica District Literature chairman. She is a graduate of the University of Oregon where she majored in sociology with special emphasis on welfare and social work. She has also spent many summers as a Girl Scout camp counselor. "This variety of background training particularly fits her for the position she has now taken on in service-club work," said Mrs. Clement Arnold, coordinator.

FAMILY

Barbara and her architect-husband, Tom, are the parents of three girls, ages 8, 6 and 2. They have lived in Menlo Park for the last two and one-half years and spend much of their leisure time pursuing their family hobbies of photography, shooting, swimming, hiking and camping.

In addition to belonging to the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club, this energetic young mother has also been a member of the Palo Alto Jaycette's club, has been a very active member of the Zeta Tau Alpha Peninsula Alumnae Association, and a room mother at Ladera School.

Local junior women's clubs receive district awards

The junior women's clubs of Menlo Park and Palo Alto received major awards in the recent Pacifica District Convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, Junior Membership, in San Jose.

Top recognition for civic achievement was awarded the Palo Alto juniors when they were presented with the Josephine Seaman Award trophy. This honor is given to the one club in the district whose civic efforts have been of the greatest value to their community. Other considerations upon which this award is based are: originality of the project, accomplishment without the aid of other organizations, and permanency of the project achievements.

THE PALO ALTO club was selected for the honor because of its aid to the Palo Alto Society for the Blind and its establishment of a fellowship grant to the speech pathology department of Stanford University.

The grant enables graduate speech therapy students to give rehabilitating instruction to elderly county welfare patients who are confined to nursing homes because they cannot speak well enough to get along by themselves outside the nursing home.

In the other categories where the Palo Alto juniors were entered in competition, they received the following awards in the medium-size club division: Armed forces and veterans service, 2nd place, Mrs. Richard L. Edwards, chairman; crafts, honorable mention, Mrs. H. M. Bailey, chairman; drama, motion pictures, television and radio, 1st place, Mrs. Ben Kelman, chairman; gerontology, 1st place, Mrs. George Hallock, chairman; ways and means, 1st place, Mrs. Theodore Von Berkefeldt, chairman.

ATTENDING the day-long convention and evening awards banquet were eight representatives of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club: Mrs. Clement Arnold, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Ben Kelman, Mrs. Melvin Barnett, Mrs. Richard L. Edwards, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Theodore Von Berkfeldt, and Mrs. Thomas Whitson.

Foremost among honors received by the Menlo-Atherton club was the press and communications award. This honor is awarded to the outstanding club pressbook submitted from the 17 clubs which make up Pacifica District. The Menlo-Atherton pressbook will be entered in the state competition for press and communications honors.

The local club also received the Eleanor Arnold trophy, awarded annually to the club presenting the best report of junior and senior club relationships.

A FIRST PLACE award was given to the Menlo-Atherton club for their international hostessing report. This chairmanship is developed to promote stronger international relations, and the local club was honored primarily for their active participation with the Stanford International Center.

One other first place award was given to the Menlo-Atherton club's home chairmanship, which stresses club activity promoting better homemaking, consumer education, and family responsibilities.

Other awards received by the club include second place awards in literature, education, and ways and means; third place awards in armed forces and veteran's services, crafts, and build a better community; and honorable mention in youth.

Members of the Menlo-Atherton club taking an active part in the convention were Mrs. George C. Perkins, Mrs. A. J. Bitker, Mrs. C. J. Keenan and Mrs. Edward Gilmore.

Others attending were Mrs. Richard Alberding, Mrs. Douglas Johnson, Mrs. Charles Linn, Mrs. Parry A. Watkins Jr., Mrs. Richard Starr, Mrs. Willard Benson, Harriett Wedde and Mrs. George Ackerman.

Palo Alto juniors to name 'Homemaker of the Year'

The Palo Alto Junior Women's Club will announce its "Homemaker of the Year" at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting at the Palo Alto Women's Club House, Homer and Cowper streets.

Announcement of the award by the club's home chairman, Mrs. J. W. Stevens, will be held after officers for the 1960-61 club year are elected.

PLANS WILL be made for the club's forthcoming fund-raising event, sponsorship of the Friday, May 22, performance of Comedia's "Babes in Arms." A theater party with champagne punch and dancing is planned after the show for all who attend the performance.

Proceeds of the event will be used to establish a fellowship grant for the Speech Pathology Department of Stanford University. The grant will enable a graduate speech therapy student to give instructions twice weekly to county welfare oldsters confined to nursing homes.

Mrs. Von Berckefeldt wins homemaking award

The "Homemaker of the Year" award was presented to Mrs. Ted Von Berckefeldt by the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club Thursday. She will compete now for the Pacifica District title to be announced next Saturday in San Jose.

Mrs. Von Berckefeldt has a daughter, Susan, 10, a son, Richard, 4, and is expecting a third child. An avid gardener, she also enjoys sewing and does her own cooking and housework.

A past president of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club, Mrs. Von Berckefeldt is on the board of directors and is parliamentarian at the district level. She is active in the St. Thomas Aquinas Guild, United Voluntary Services and Girl Scouts.

BABES IN ARMS

Members of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club—with babes—are left, Mrs. Warren Halperin with Susan, and Mrs. Ben Kelman with Joseph. The club will sponsor a benefit performance of the Comedia production May 20. A dance will be held afterwards in the theater for all attending the charity affair.

New officers installed by Palo Alto Juniors

Ming's Restaurant in Palo Alto was the scene of a recent installation dinner meeting of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club.

New officers are: Mrs. Ben Kelman, president; Mrs. Thomas C. Whitson, vice president and dean of chairmen; Mrs. Carl Wheeler, recording secretary; Mrs. George Hallock, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Speaks, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Melvin Bennett, auditor; and Mrs. Theodore Von Berckefeldt, parliamentarian.

Also installed were new board members: Mrs. Russell Bryan, Mrs. H. M. Bailey, Mrs. Richard L. Edwards, Mrs. Richard Smith and Mrs. Jack White.

FINAL PLANS for the club's upcoming benefit, the May 20th performance of Comedia's "Babes in Arms" and the after theatre party to be given for all those attending the showing were announced by Mrs. Ben Kelman, chairman.

The Palo Alto Juniors have undertaken the one night sponsorship of the musical comedy to raise funds to provide speech therapy for elderly nursing home patients through a fellowship grant to the speech pathology department of Stanford University.

TICKETS for the event may be obtained from any member of the Palo Alto Junior Women's club.

Women's group to sponsor 'Babes in Arms'

The Friday night performance of the Comedia Repertory Company's production of "Babes in Arms" will be sponsored by the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club.

Refreshments and a theater dancing party for all who attend the benefit event will take place immediately following the show. Proceeds will be used to provide remedial speech instruction for elderly county welfare nursing home patients in northern Santa Clara County.

For further information call Mrs. Ben Kelman, DA 2-8211.

P. A. Juniors to sponsor benefit theatre party

The May 20 performance of the Comedia Players' new production, "Babes In Arms" will be sponsored by members of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club at the Loft Theater. Immediately after the show the Juniors will host a theater dancing party for all who attend the benefit performance.

Proceeds from ticket sales and program advertising will be used to complete a fellowship grant which the Palo Alto Juniors have established for the speech pathology department at Stanford University.

THE GRANT was set up so that graduate speech therapy students can provide rehabilitating speech instruction at no cost to a group of county welfare oldsters who are confined to nursing homes because they have lost the ability to speak clearly enough to be understood. At present, eight such handicapped patients are being given speech therapy aid two mornings a week.

The aim of this new venture is to relieve these people of their speech difficulties to the extent that they can be released from nursing home care.

MRS. BEN Kelman, the Juniors' drama chairman for the 1959-60 club year, is in charge of the benefit performance and theater party.

Committee members include:

Mrs. Melvin Barnett, Mrs. Richard L. Edwards, Mrs. Theodore von Berefeldt, Mrs. H. M. Bailey, Mrs. Russel Bryan, Mrs. James B. Caldwell, Mrs. I. J. Steinhardt, Mrs. J. W. Stevens, Mrs. Carl Wheeler, Mrs. Jack White, Mrs. Warren Halperin, Mrs. Thomas G. Whitson and Mrs. Don Hunziker.

Tickets for the benefit affair may be obtained from any member of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club.

Palo Alto Juniors Deep in Gerontology Projects

Helping the handicapped aged has led the Palo Alto Juniors into many varied projects this year. For the second year, one of their primary projects has been aid to the Palo Alto Society for the Blind, Inc.

In order to provide the funds necessary to buy new beds, complete with mattresses and springs; paint two rooms; have new floor coverings laid; provide draperies for several rooms, as well as additional towels and bedding; the Juniors sponsored a Barbershop Quartet Show.

The Juniors' help to the Society is not confined to providing beds and paint, they also staff the Society's office one afternoon a week and read and write letters for the residents, chat with them, take them shopping, invite them home for an afternoon, and do whatever they can to be of service and to brighten the lives of these people who continually live in the dark.

The club is now embarking on sponsoring a second Barbershop quartet Show. The proceeds will provide help for another group of handicapped oldsters, senior citizens, who are confined to nursing homes because they are unable to speak clearly enough to be understood. A $500 fellowship grant will be given to the speech department of Stanford University, which will send a speech therapy graduate student to help seven patients in one Palo Alto nursing home two mornings a week.

The Juniors have also aided the speech therapy department of the Palo Alto school district by making hand puppets, flannel board stories, cut-outs, and acted as hostesses at parent conference meetings, and adopted an indigent mental patient at the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital.

Local Junior Women's Clubs received honors when the California Federation of Women's Clubs convened last week at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles.

Receiving awards at the Thursday night departmental banquet were the Palo Alto juniors and the Menlo-Atherton juniors. Palo Alto received a second place award in both drama and gerontology. The Menlo-Atherton juniors took first place honors in international hostessing for their program with the Stanford International Students.

FIRST PLACE honors in the Vogue sewing contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs went to Mrs. Jack White of Palo Alto Juniors who also placed third in the combined judging of Junior and Senior outfits at the CFWC Convention earlier this month.

A mock political convention was the theme of the Friday night Build a Better Community Awards Festival, according to the state chairman Mrs. George C. Perkins of Menlo Park. Colorful red, white and blue decorations surrounded the stage area and delegates serpentined around the convention floor prior to the presentation of awards. Winning clubs accomplishments were presented as campaign platforms. Local clubs receiving awards (honorable mention) were the Los Altos juniors and Menlo-Atherton juniors.

Judges for this year's BABC contest were L. W. Lane jr., president and publisher of the Lane Magazine Company in Menlo Park, publishers of Sunset Magazine; C. Easton Rothwell, president of Mills College in Oakland; and Y. A. Tittle, quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers' football team and partner in Tittle-Iverson Insurance Company in Palo Alto.

Mr. Lane was among the special guests at the awards banquet on Friday evening.

Pacifica District appointments for local women

Local women receiving appointments as departmental chairmen of the Pacifica District California Federation of Women's Clubs, junior membership, were announced at an executive board meeting held at the Saratoga home of Mrs. D. M. Vogelaar, the newly elected president of the Pacifica Distict CFWC.

From the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club, Mrs. Thomas Whitson was announced as district education chairman, and Mrs. Richard Edwards as literature chairman.

THREE MEMBERS of the Menlo-Atherton Junior Women's Club received appointments as district departmental chairman. They are Mrs. C. L. Bauman, armed forces and veteran's services chairman; Mrs. Edward Gilmore, health and gerantology chairman; and Mrs. Alfred Ofalsa, international affairs and international hostessing chairman.

Mrs. Ben Kelman, of the Palo Alto club, was also appointed a member of the district by-laws committee.

Members from the local clubs attending this meeting included Mrs. Ben Kelman and Mrs. Thomas Whitson of the Palo Alto club and Mrs. George C. Perkins and Mrs. Parry A. Watkins Jr., from the Menlo-Atherton Junior Women's Club.

Palo Alto Junior Women take time for luau party

Members of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club took time out from their civic service projects to entertain their husbands Saturday night at a luau. The Thomas C. Whitson home in Menlo Park was the site of the "Night in the Islands" party.

Half-a-hundred young men and women met first for swimming and then cocktails around the pool. Later, with background Hawaiian music setting the mood, the gaily decorated pool area became the scene of an island-style feast. The menu featured curried shrimp with traditional curry condiments, sweet potatoes in orange (skin) cups, chicken and rice casseroles, quartered fresh pineapple salad boats, molded and tossed green salads, tropical fruits and melon balls in a watermelon shell.

THE JUNIORS dressed in authentic mu-mu's, sarongs, Hawaiian print dresses, etc., and their husbands wore casual beach attire, colorful Hawaiian shirts, walking shorts, blue denims, etc. The luau serving-table centerpiece was a huge pink crepe-paper pig —complete with an apple in its mouth. The table itself was covered with canna leaves and fish nets.

Other Polynesian-type decorations put up by Mrs. H. M. Bailey, chairman; and her committee: Mrs. Arlen Haffner, Mrs. Warren Halperin, Mrs. Carl Wheeler and Mrs. Thomas C. Whitson, consisted of bright Japanese lanterns, palm fronds, bamboo reeds, colored fish nets, a variety of sea shells and glass floats. The entrance to the pool area was flanked by two yellow and green crepe-paper pineapples atop long yellow poles —these were used as impressionistic palm trees.

During dinner the guests sat around the pool on grass mats and canvas pads, later they gathered around the Whitson's brick fire-pit while they talked and sang in the flickering firelight. The evening's festivities concluded with a few hardy juniors taking a late swim, some playing bridge and others dancing.

Benefit drama planned

The Palo Alto Junior Women's Club has chosen aid to the Palo Alto Society for the Blind, Inc. as their new Build A Better Community project, a program sponsored nationally by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

Mrs. Melvin Barnett, B.A.B.C. chairman, reported that the group plans to raise funds for physical and material improvements and additions to the Blind Society's buildings, located on the corner of Addison and Cowper streets.

MRS. CHARLES Kesterson, the junior's gerontology chairman, has been made a member of the Society's Board of Directors and as such met recently with that board in an effort to determine which of the Society's needs are most urgent. As a result the Juniors voted to begin their project with the purchase of furniture for the society's recreation room.

To raise money for the venture, the club will present the first and only peninsula showing of the Claypipers new and original melodrama, "Druscilla of the Gold Country, or, Virtue Triumphs in the Sawmill" by John Moore.

THE CLAYPIPERS are a group of Bay Area men and women who present melodrama and accompanying olio acts each weekend during the summer in the Mother Lode country at Drytown, in Amador County.

The Palo Alto Junior Women's Club benefit performance has been scheduled for Saturday, May 6th, and will be presented in the little theater of the Veterans Memorial Building in Redwood City.

Tickets will be available to the public according to Mrs. Arlen E. Haffner who has been named benefit chairman. Mrs. Daniel Peterson will take charge of intermission refreshments. Other committee chairmen and their committee members will be announced later.

Paly juniors honor founder

Mrs. Clement Arnold, founder of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club, was guest of honor at the twentieth anniversary celebration of the group held this week, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Henry Marschall and Mrs. Lawrence Vilen.

Mrs. Arnold, president of the Palo Alto Women's Club in 1941, observed the need for a junior group and was instrumental in making arrangemets for the formatio of the new organization. Past presidents of the group were also honored at the celebration.

ENTERTAINMENT included an original skit, depicting club activities throughout the years. These included helping to organize, furnish and staff the Servicemen's Center in Palo Alto during the Korean War; aiding the Paly-High Boosters Club in raising $1,100 for the purchase of new school band uniforms.

Forming the only folk dancing class in a closed ward at the Veterans Administration Hospital as part of a psychotherapy program for the rehabilitation of mental patients; purchasing and donating the mobile unit for the Palo Alto Junior Museum;

Providing two new incubators for the old Palo Alto Hospital; purchasing and distributing 30,000 litterbags during the "Keep Palo Alto Beautiful" campaign; donating the first scholarship for a Cubberley High School graduating senior;

RAISING funds for outside cement work and inside redecorations at the Palo Alto Society for the Blind, Inc.; and gave a $500 fellowship grant to the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology at Stanford University to pay the expenses of graduate speech therapy students who carried out the Juniors' pilot project of providing remedial speech instruction for elderly aphasiac patients residing in a local nursing home.

After the special birthday skit, the group heard Jean Jenkins of the Palo Alto Academy of the Arts speak on "Art for Children."

Committee members working on the program were Mrs. Donald Hunceker, Mrs. John Love, Mrs. Donald Palmer, Mrs. Robert Peyton, Mrs. N. Rex Sheppard and Mrs. Warren Storkman.

Woman's club readies benefit

The Woman's Club of Palo Alto's "Temple of Venus" fashion show-luncheon will be held in the Circus Maximus Room of the Palo Alto Cabana at noon next Thursday. Proceeds will benefit the club's nurses and college scholarship fund.

Mrs. Floyd Hill Davidson of Atherton and Mrs. Donald E. Campbell of Menlo Park are co-chairmen of the event. Reservations are available and may be obtained by calling Mrs. V. B. Reutepohler.

Highlighting the fashions will be showpieces from the collection of Oscar award winner Travilla of Hollywood who did the dramatic gowns for Loretta Young's TV show. Travilla's costumes and creations are being worn by Debbie Reynolds in "Mary Mary," Sandra Dee in "Take Her — She's Mine," and Jonne Woodward in "The Stripper."

SPECIAL GUEST

Spcial guest at the Caesar's Table reserved for men will be Roger Grimsby, San Francisco television newscaster.

A short musical interlude "Three Bayside Ballads" will feature composer-pianist Marguerite Fenney and mexxo-soprano Peggy Keyes. Marguerite Fenney, a member of the club, composed the words and music of the selection which includes her "Song of Palo Alto." Peggy Keyes, known for her own musical and dramatic programs, is currently starring in the San Francisco Opera Ring performance of "Little Mary Sunshine."

Dressed as pages and assisting the models will be Mmes. George Taylor and Lawrence Vilen and Judith Friend of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club. Providing background piano music during the style show will be Mrs. Daniel Peterson, also a member of the Junior Women's Club.

Junior women meeting today

Representatives of 15 Junior Women's Clubs gathered this afternoon at the Palo Alto Cabana for the spring Pacifica District meeting.

Hostess groups were the Los Altos Junior Women's Club and the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club. Among the honored guests was Mrs. Clement Arnold, founder of the Palo Alto, Los Altos, Redwood City and Santa Clara Junior Women's Clubs.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO SEE COLORED TRAVEL PICTURES

Travel in America will be portrayed in colored and sound motion pictures to be shown members of the Palo Alto Woman's Club, their husbands and invited guests at the Woman's Clubhouse, Homer avenue at Cowper street, next Wednesday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The pictures, entitled "A Trip Through Glacier National Park" and "Scenic Way West," will be shown by Frank E. Howell of San Francisco. Appropriate music is being arranged by the club's music chairman, Mrs. Henry Oberg. A social hour, during which refreshments will be served, will follow showing of the movies. Mrs. Paul M. P. Merner is chairman for the evening.

On Wednesday the club board of directors will meet at 1:30 in the director's room at the clubhouse, and at 2:30 that afternoon will be held the regular meeting of the general membership for an inventory of the clubhouse furnishings and equipment. Mrs. Henry Gemmer will preside.

On the board of directors are Mrs. Gemmer, Mrs. Arthur Hill, Mrs. L. E. Nathanson, Mrs. George McDougall, Mrs. Fred Barger, Mrs. Clement Arnold, Mrs. Tom Ashlock and Miss Lee Hansen.

Woman's Club to present 'Temple of Venus'

P.A. Jr. Women's Club wins honors at confab

The Palo Alto Junior Women's Club received four district awards at the annual Pacifica District Convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, Junior Membership, held recently at the Hilton Inn in South San Francisco.

The Palo Alto Junior Women's Club received the following awards in the large-size club division: Gerontology, 1st place, Mrs. Rex Sheppard, chairman; Armed Forces and Veterans Service, 2nd place, Mrs. William; Stamps for the Wounded, 2nd place, Mrs. William Price, chairman; and Art, 3rd place, Mrs. William Shaughnessy, chairman.

The gerontology award was based on the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club support of the Palo Alto Society for the Blind, Inc. by helping to bring warmth and friendship into the home through many activities. The society is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization maintaining a home for elderly blind persons at 483 Addison Ave., Palo Alto. It currently houses 12 elderly blind men and women.

Attending the day-long convention and evening awards banquet were six representatives of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club: Mmmes. Arlen Haffner, John Magarian, William Shaughnessy, Rex Sheppard, George Taylor and Charles Ward.

Junior women's club installs new officers

The Atherton Club was the setting of an installation dinner meeting of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club on Tuesday.

Mrs. Gilman Murray, outgoing coordinator, officiated at the ceremony installing the following new officers: Mrs. George Taylor, president; Mrs. Lawrence Vilen, first vice president; Mrs. William Price, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Ward, recording secretary; Mrs. John Magarian, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Shaughnessy, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Heckinger, auditor; Mrs. Arlen Haffner, parliamentarian; Mrs. Daniel Peterson, board member, and Mrs. George Hallock, coordinator.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a perpetual "Junior of the Year" trophy which was awarded to Mrs. Lawrence Vilen. This trophy was established in 1962 by Mrs. Theodore Von Berkefeldt who is a past member and coordinator of the palo Alto Junior Women's Club.

P.A. Junior Women to tour Homesmith

The Palo Alto Junior Women's Club will hold its general April meeting at Homesmith, Inc., Bayshore Highway and Whipple Overpass, Redwood City Thursday at 7:45 p.m. After the meeting a representative of Homesmith, Inc., will give a talk and a tour of the firm's display. Refreshments will be served.

Guests are welcome and may attend by contacting Mrs. Arlen Haffner.

Palo Alto Juniors plan luau and swimming party

Members of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club will take time out from their service projects to entertain their husbands and guests Sunday, June 9, at a luau and swimming party.

The Thomas C. Whitson home in Menlo Park will be the site of the festivities. Mrs. Whitson is a past president of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club.

To set the mood, the dress for the affair will be muu muus, sarongs and Hawaiian print dresses and the husbands will don casual beach attire, colorful Hawaiian shirts and walking shorts.

The pool area will become the scene for swimming, cocktails and an island-style feast. With background Hawaiian music completing the atmosphere, the guests will sit around the pool on grass mats and canvas pads to enjoy the Polynesian menu and later gather around the Whitsons' brick fire-pit for some singing.

The general chairman for the event is Judy Friend and assisting her with reservations is Mrs. George Taylor.

Santa's Luncheon to be Dec. 7

The annual Santa's Luncheon, sponsored by the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club, will be held on Dec. 7 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. at the Women's Club of Palo Alto, 475 Homer Ave., Palo Alto.

Santa will visit with each child and give out candy canes. The luncheon will feature hot dogs and punch. Two short movies will be shown, Mrs. Lawrence Vilen, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Harold Bridwell.

The proceeds from the luncheon will be presented to the Medic - Alert Foundation International to purchase Medic-Alert memberships for needy children and adults.

The Medic-Alert Foundation International is a non-profit organization, dedicated to educating and encouraging individuals to wear on their person identification of any medical problem that should be known in an emergency.

BRACELETS

For a lifetime membership fee of $5 per person, Medic-Alert provides stainless steel and silver emblems with a warning engraved on the back noting the particular medical problem of the wearer. The emblems, in the form of bracelets and necklaces, also carry a medical insignia with the words "Medic-Alert" embossed in red, a serial number and a telephone number.

A serial number is assigned to each member. The telephone number is that of Central Answering Service in the Foundation's Turlock headquarters where the medical records of members are filed.

The information in these records, cross filed under name and serial number, is available to physicians and other authorized personnel on a 24 hour, collect call basis.

In case of accident or seizure, the emblems alert physicians and passersby to summon and administer the prop[er] medical treatment.

Santa says: 'Candy canes for everyone!'

Santa Claus, in the person of Mrs. Arlen Haffner of Menlo Park, has quite a following. Waiting their turn on Santa's lap are, left to right, Kristin McClenahan, Bob Bridwell, John Bridwell, Wynn McClenahan and Lisa Hillier. Mrs. Haffner is balancing her daughter, Katherine, on her knee. The interview with Santa is a preview of the Palo Alto Junior Women's Club's Santa's Luncheon to be held Saturday, Dec. 7, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. at the Woman's Club of Palo Alto. The event is open to the public. Hot dogs and punch will be served. Each child will receive a candy cane and will have a chance to talk to Santa.
